The “Becks” to be inducted into The Pennsylvania Fly Fishing Museum

The Becks need no introduction to the fly fishing industry. Barry and Cathy are often referred to as the “first couple of fly fishing”.

They are on the pro staffs of such companies as Sage Rod Co, Redington, Rio Fly Lines, and Tibor Reels. As trip hosts for Frontiers International, they travel to such destinations as New Zealand, Africa, Argentina, Alaska, Bahamas, Mexico, Belize, Venezuela, Russia, Mongolia, Bolivia, Iceland, and the American West which gives them the opportunity to photograph in a wide range of countries and environments.

As photographers, their work appears regularly in sporting calendars and magazines, including American angler, Fly Fisherman, Fly Fishing in Salt Waters, Field & Stream, Outdoor Life, Gray’s Sporting Journal, Big Sky Journal, Montana Outdoors, and others. Commercial clients include Frontiers International, Patagonia, L.L. Bean, Sage Rod Company, and RIO Products.

They have provided the photography for books by numerous authors and have written and photographed for their own books which include Fly Waters Near & Far, Cathy Beck’s Fly Fishing Handbook, Seasons of the Bighorn, Outdoor Photographer’s Handbook, and Fly-Fishing the Flats.

The Becks spend their lives in pursuit of fish and photographic opportunities. Cathy Beck has a flyfishing school in Benton, Pennsylvania, and has been teaching fly fishing for 25 years. Barry has spent his life in the fly fishing business and photographing. They regularly appear at sport shows and sporting events around the country giving casting demonstrations and presentations on photography and fishing.
